- I like the simplicity of the site that's what I intended
- The icons for each page are nicely done and I like how the shape of the zero is continually reinforced
- I like the color scheme and I'm excited to see how its reinforced throughout the rest of the site

- Line behind the icons to illustrate path of a zero will be implemented if possible
 - Going to use java script to make the icons move if possible
- Second mockup is preferred - makes more sense
- Nav bar with icons needs to be implemented
 - Right now they don't look very "clickable"
- Outline in black around the icons to emphasize the shape of the zero
- Icons pop up out - maybe would make them look more like buttons that the viewer would want to click on
- Background color changes - another options for making the different sections look like buttons
